The first stage of onshore construction begins with seasonal road work in 2021 while the second stage is estimated to begin in 2023. Over the next several years, these two projects will provide enough renewable wind power to over 800,000 households.
- Women of Barnstable: Nancy Viall Shoemaker of West Barnstable Press, will give a preview to the book, that she and historian Jim Gould are working on. The research has yielded fascinating stories of women of our Town . . . from witches, to sea captain's wives, to businesswoman and suffragists! The book will be available at local book stores later this spring.
